Notice of Maintenance Fees Payable

Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 1.362(d), effective Nov. 1, 1984, provides that maintenance fees may be paid without surcharge for a six-month period beginning 3, 7, and 11 years after the date of issue of patents based on applications filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980. An additional six-month grace period is provided by 35 U.S.C. 41(b) and 37 CFR 1.362(e) for payment of the maintenance fee with the surcharge set forth in 37 CFR 1.20(k) or (l), effective Nov. 1, 1984. If the maintenance fee is not paid in a patent requiring such payment, the patent will expire on the 4th, 8th or 12th anniversary of the grant.

Attention is drawn to the patents which were issued on Jan. 5, 1982 for which maintenance fees due at 3 years and six months may now be paid. The patents have patent numbers within the following ranges:

Plant Patents	None
Utility Patents	4,308,622 through 4,309,773

Reissue Patents based on the above identified patents. No maintenance fees are required for design patents.

Payments of maintenance fees in patents should be directed to "Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box M. Fee, Washington, D.C. 20231."

The current amounts of the maintenance fees due at 3 years and six months are set forth in 37 CFR 1.20(e) and (h), which are reproduced below:

37 CFR §1.20 Post-issuance fees

"(e) For maintaining an original or reissue patent, except a design patent, based on an application filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980 and before Aug. 27, 1982, in force beyond 4 years; the fee is due by three years and six months after the original grant . . . $ 200.00"

"(h) For maintaining an original or reissue patent, except a design or plant patent, based on an application filed on or after Aug. 27, 1982, in force beyond 4 years; the fee is due by three years and six months after the original grant:
By a small entity (§1.9(f)) . . . . . $ 200.00
By other than a small entity . . . . . $ 400.00"

The amounts of the surcharges, effective Nov. 1, 1984, are set forth in 37 CFR 1.20(k)-(m), which are reproduced below:

"(k) Surcharge for paying a maintenance fee during the 6-month grace period following the expiration of three years and six months, seven years and six months, and eleven years and six months after the date of the original grant of a patent based on an application filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980 and before Aug. 27, 1982 . . . . . $ 100.00"

"(l) Surcharge for paying a maintenance fee during the 6-month grace period following the expiration of three years and six months, seven years and six months, and eleven years and six months after the date of the original grant of a patent based on an application filed on or after Aug. 27, 1982:
By a small entity (§1.9(f)) . . . . . $ 50.00
By other than a small entity . . . . . $ 100.00"

"(m) Surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee on a patent based on an application filed on or after Aug. 27, 1982, where the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unavoidable . . . . . $ 500.00"

Initial Guidelines Implementing Changes in 35 U.S.C. 103, 116, and 120

The Patent and Trademark Office has established initial guidelines for patent examiners to use in implementing the changes made in 35 U.S.C. 103, 116, and 120 by Public Law 98-622, the Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984. As a service to the public, those guidelines are published below. A copy of Public Law 98-622 is also being published concurrently herewith. Some of the procedural aspects of matters contained in the guidelines will be incorporated into Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulation through the rule-making process.

RENE D. TEGTMEYER,
Dec. 11, 1984. Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

Initial Guidelines As To Implementation Of 35 U.S.C. 103

Public Law 98-622 added a new sentence to 35 U.S.C. 103 which reads as follows:

"Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person."

The significant features resulting from this amendment to §103 are the following:

(1) The only prior art which is disqualified is prior art under §102(f) or (g) where the subject matter, i.e., the prior art, and the invention "were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person." (Person includes organization.)
(2) If the subject matter (prior art) qualifies as prior art under any other section, e.g., §102(a), (b), or (e), it is still prior art and can be used.
(3) Amendment applies only to subject matter which qualifies as prior art under §103; it does not affect subject matter which qualifies as prior art under §102, i.e., anticipatory prior art.
(4) Term "another person" means any inventive entity other than the inventor and includes the inventor and any other person.
(5) Term "developed" is to be read broadly and is not limited to any particular manner of development.
(6) Subject matter derived from another under §102(f) is prior art under §103 unless the derived subject matter and the claimed invention are owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person at the time the claimed invention was made.
(7) The disclosure of an earlier filed patent application which issues as a patent continues to be prior art under §102(e) against a later invented and filed application of another inventor even though the patent and the later application are owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person.

(8) Commonly owned applications, i.e., applications owned by the same person, may be refiled as a single application to avoid one or more of them becoming prior art against another under §§102(e) and 103.

(9) The phrase "owned by the same person" requires that the same person, persons, or organization own 100% of the subject matter (prior art) and 100% of the claimed invention.

(10) The phrase "subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person" requires that a legal obligation of assignment exist and not merely a moral or unenforceable obligation.

(11) As long as the same person owns the subject matter and the invention at the time the claimed invention was made, a license to another may be made without the subject matter becoming prior art.

(12) Amended §103 requires actual ownership (or obligation to assign) be in existence at the time the claimed invention is made for the subject matter to be disqualified as prior art; acquiring one or the other later is not sufficient.

(13) Burden of establishing that subject matter is disqualified as prior art is placed on patent applicant and not on the patent examiner once the examiner establishes a prima facie case of obviousness based on the prior art.

(14) Double patenting rejections may now be made in applications based on commonly owned patents of different inventive entities and double patenting rejections of the obviousness type can be overcome by terminal disclaimers.

(15) A double patenting rejection may also be made in a later filed application where the application/patent on which the rejection is based and the later filed application are not commonly owned as long as one of the inventors is common between the later filed application and the application/patent; such a rejection cannot be overcome by terminal disclaimer in view of the lack of common ownership.

(16) The Commissioner's Notice of January 9, 1967, "Double Patenting", 834 O.G. 1615 (Jan. 31, 1967) is withdrawn to the extent that it does not authorize a double patenting rejection where different inventive entities are present.

(17) Inventors of subject matter not commonly owned at the time of the invention may file as joint inventors in a single application. However, the claims in such an application are not protected from a §102(f)/103 or §102(g)/103 rejection.

Implementation Steps As To Amended 35 U.S.C. 103

A. Applications To Be Considered

(1) Amended §103 does not "affect any final decision made by the court or the Patent and Trademark Office before the date of enactment [November 8, 1984]... with respect to a patent or application for patent, if no appeal from such decision is pending and the time for filing an appeal has expired."

(2) The amendment of §103 will not be considered to apply to:

(a) Any application which has been abandoned prior to November 8, 1984, unless such application is revived pursuant to the provisions of 37 CFR 1.137(a) or (b) and is pending on or after November 8, 1984;

(d) Any application in which all the claims have been allowed and in which prosecution has been closed prior to November 8, 1984, e.g., by an Ex parte Quayle action, a Notice of allowability, or a Notice of Allowance. However, a continuing application would obtain the benefit of amended §103 if filed prior to the abandonment or issuance of the application; and

(c) Any application in which an appeal has been filed and is no longer pending or in which the time for filing an appeal has expired prior to November 8, 1984. However if the application contains allowed claims on or after November 8, 1984, the allowed claims are subject to amended §103.

(3) The amendment to §103 will be applied to any application (a) which is before the examiner for action and in which all the claims have not been allowed and the prosecution closed or (b) in which prosecution has been closed and is being reopened to reject the allowed claims on grounds other than §102(f)/103 or §102(g)/103.

(4) Applications not before the examiner for action, e.g., an application in which a response from applicant is required, will not be considered as to the applicability of amended §103 unless applicant takes timely action which properly requires an action on the merits by the examiner.

B. Conflicting Co-pending Applications Of Different Inventive Entities With No Indication That They Are Commonly Owned

(1) If the application files do not establish that they are owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person, the examiner will:

(a) assume that the applications are not commonly owned;

(b) examine the applications on all grounds other than any conflict between the applications;

(c) consider the applicability of §102(f)/103 or § 102(g)/103 if one application refers to the other (if there is no cross-reference between the applications it would be inappropriate for the examiner to refer to one application in the other in view of 35 U.S.C. 122);

(d) consider interference if appropriate;

(e) suspend the later filed application if it is otherwise allowable until the earlier filed application is abandoned or issues as a patent and then reject the later filed application under § 102(e)/103, if appropriate; and

(f) proceed under item C below if at any time during the examination a statement is made that the applications are commonly owned.

C. Conflicting Co-pending Applications Of Different Inventive Entities Which Are Commonly Owned

(1) Co-pending applications will be considered by the examiner to be owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person if (a) the application files refer to assignments recorded in the PTO in accordance with 37 CFR 1.331 which convey the entire rights in the applications to the same person(s) or organization(s); or (b) copies of unrecorded assignments which convey the entire rights in the applications to the same person(s) or organization(s) are filed in each of the applications; or (c) an affidavit or declaration by the common owner is filed which states that there is common ownership and explains why the affiant believes there is common ownership; or (d) other evidence is submitted which establishes common ownership of the applications in question, e.g., a court decision determining the owner. In circumstances where the common owner is a corporation or other organization an affidavit or declaration averring common ownership may be signed by an official of the corporation or organization empowered to act on behalf of the corporation or organization.

(2) If the application files establish that they are owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person, the examiner will:

(a) examine the applications as to all grounds except §§102(f) and (g) as they apply through §103 if the application files establish common ownership at the time the later invention was made;

(b) examine the applications for double patenting, including double patenting of the obviousness type, and make a provisional rejection, if appropriate, (see In re Mott, 190 USPQ 536 (CCPA 1976); examine the later filed application under §102(e) as it applies through §103 and make a provisional rejection under §102(e)/103 in the later filed application, if appropriate;

permit applicant of the later filed application to file an affidavit under 37 CFR 1.131 to overcome the provisional or actual §102(e)/103 rejection, if appropriate, and a terminal disclaimer to overcome the provisional or actual rejection on double patenting of the obviousness type.

Initial Guidelines As To Implementation Of 35 U.S.C. 116

Public Law 98-622 amended 35 U.S.C. 116 to clarify that each inventor need not "sign the application" in addition to making the required oath and to add a new sentence which reads as follows:

"Inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though (1) they did not physically work together or at the same time, (2) each did not make the same type or amount of contribution, or (3) each did not make a contribution to the subject matter of every claim of the patent."

The significant features resulting from these amendments to §116 are the following:

(1) The joint inventors do not have to separately "sign the application," but only need apply for the patent jointly and make the required oath by signing the same; this is a clarification, but not a change in current practice.
(2) Inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though "they did not work together or at the same time," thereby clarifying (a) that it is not necessary that the inventors physically work together on a project, and (b) that one inventor may "take a step at one time, the other an approach at different times." (Monsanto Co. v. Kamp, 154 USPQ 259 (D.D.C. 1967)).
(3) Inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though "each did not make the same type or amount of contribution," thereby clarifying the "fact that each of the inventors plays a different role and that the contribution of one may not be as great as that of another does not detract from the fact that the invention is joint, if each makes some original contribution, though partial, to the final solution of the problem." Monsanto, supra.
(4) Inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though "each did not make a contribution to the subject matter of every claim of the patent."
(5) Inventors may apply for a patent jointly as long as each inventor made a contribution, i.e., was an inventor or joint inventor, of the subject matter of at least one claim of the patent; there is no requirement that all the inventors be joint inventors of the subject matter of any one claim.
(6) If an application by joint inventors includes more than one independent and distinct invention, restriction may be required with the possible result of a necessity to change the inventorship named in the application if the elected invention was not the invention of all the originally named inventors.
(7) The amendment to §116 increases the likelihood that different claims of an application or patent may have different dates of invention; when necessary the Office or court may inquire of the patent applicant or owner concerning the inventors and the invention dates for the subject matter of the various claims.

Implementation Steps As To Amended 35 U.S.C. 116

(1) See items (1) to (4) above under "Applications To Be Considered" for applications to be considered under amended §116.
(2) Pending applications will be permitted to be amended by complying with 37 CFR 1.48 to add claims to inventions by inventors not named when the application was filed as long as such inventions were disclosed in the application as filed since 37 CFR 1.48 permits correction of inventorship where the "correct inventor or inventors are not named in an application for patent through error without any deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors".
(3) Under amended §116 an examiner will reject claims under §102(f) only in circumstances where a named inventor is not the inventor of at least one claim in the application; no rejection under §102(f) is appropriate if a named inventor made a contribution to the invention defined in any claim of the application.
(4) Under amended §116 considered in conjunction with amended §103, a rejection may be appropriate under §102(f)/103 where the subject matter, i.e., prior art, and the claimed invention were not owned by, or subject to an obligation of assignment to, the same person at the time the invention was made.
(5) Applicants are responsible for correcting, and will be required to correct, the inventorship in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48 when the application is amended to change the claims so that one (or more) of the named inventors is no longer an inventor of the subject matter of a claim remaining in the application.
(6) In requiring restriction in an application filed by joint inventors the examiner will remind applicants of the necessity to correct the inventorship pursuant to 37 CFR 1.48 if an invention is elected and the claims to the invention of one or more inventors are cancelled.
(7) The examiner will not inquire of the patent applicant concerning the inventors and the invention dates for the subject matter of the various claims until it becomes necessary to do so in order to properly examine the application.
(8) If an application is filed with joint inventors, the examiner will assume that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time the inventions covered therein were made, unless there is evidence to the contrary. If inventors of subject matter, not commonly owned at the time of the later invention, file a joint application, applicants have an obligation pursuant to 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim and the lack of common ownership at the time the later invention was made in order that the examiner may consider the applicability of §102(f)/103 or §102(g)/103. The examiner will assume, unless there is evidence to the contrary, that applicants are complying with their duty of disclosure.

Initial Guidelines As To Implementation Of 35 U.S.C. 120

Public Law 98-622 amended 35 U.S.C. 120 by striking out "by the same inventor" and inserting in its place "which is filed by an inventor or inventors named in the previously filed application."

The amended first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 120 (the bracketed portion was deleted and the underlined portion added) reads as follows:

§120. Benefit of earlier filing date in the United States

An appliction for patent for an invention disclosed in the manner provided by the first paragraph of section 112 of this title in an application previously filed in the United States, or as provided by section 363 of this title, [by the same inventor] which is filed by an inventor or inventors named in the previously filed application shall have the same effect, as though filed on the date of the prior application, if filed before the patenting or abandonment of or termination of proceedings on the first application or on an application similarly entitled to the benefit of the filing date of the first application and if it contains or is amended to contain a specific reference to the earlier filed application."

The significant features of these amendments to §120 are the following:

(1) A later filed application by an inventor or inventors of a previously filed co-pending application may claim the benefit of the previously filed co-pending application under §120 even though the later filed application does not name all of the same inventors as the previously filed application.

(2) In order for the later filed application to be entitled to claim the benefit of the earlier filed co-pending application under §120 the earlier filed co-pending application must
   (a) have at least one inventor in common with the later filed application; and
   (b) disclose the common inventor's invention in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112, i.e., fully disclose and support at least one of the common inventor's claims found in the later application.

(3) When necessary the Patent and Trademark Office or a court may inquire of the patent applicant or owner as to who invented, and the date of invention of, the subject matter being claimed in any claims in the later filed application.

(4) Double patenting rejections may be applicable, whether or not the applications and patents are commonly owned as long as the applications/patent(s) have at least one inventor in common.

(5) If the applications and patents are commonly owned, the rejection of the applications on the grounds of double patenting can be overcome by an appropriate terminal disclaimer as long as the identical invention is not being claimed. See In re Robeson, 141 USPQ 485 (CCPA 1964), and In re Kaye, 141 USPQ 829 (CCPA 1964).

(6) If the applications and patents are not commonly owned, the double patenting rejection is entered in the later filed application and cannot be overcome by a terminal disclaimer since the ownership of the subject matter being claimed belongs to someone other than the owner of the later application.

Implementation Steps As To Amended 35 U.S.C. 120

(1) See items (1) to (4) above under "Applications To Be Considered" for applications to be considered under amended §120.

(2) The examiner will examine any earlier filed co-pending application to which priority is claimed under §120 to determine if
   (a) the earlier filed co-pending application has at least one inventor in common with the later filed application;
   (b) the other requirements for claiming benefit under §120 are met; and
   (c) a rejection on the grounds of double patenting is proper.

(3) As long as the formal requirements for claiming benefit under §120 are met, the examiner will permit the claim to be made without examining the earlier filed co-pending application for disclosure and support of at least one claim of the later filed application under the first paragraph of §112 unless it becomes necessary to do so, e.g. because of an interference or an intervening reference.

(4) The examiner will not inquire of the patent applicant as to who invented, and the date of invention of, the subject matter being claimed in any claims in the later filed application until it becomes necessary to do so in order to properly examine the application.

(5) The examiner will examine the earlier and later filed applications and make actual or provisional rejections for double patenting where appropriate, whether or not the applications are commonly owned.

Example 1 - Single Application - Plural Inventors

Inventors A and B, both employees of Company E with obligation to assign all their inventions to E develop inventions X and Y respectively. An application for patent is properly filed listing A and B as joint inventors and with claims to both X and Y as now possible under §116 as amended by Public Law 98-622.

Situation 1.

The claims to X and Y are not patentably distinct.

Examiner's Action:

If otherwise patentable over the prior art—allows application.

Situation 2.

The claims to X and Y are patentably distinct.

Examiner's Action:

Require restriction and election of claims to either X or Y. The applicant, after election, must correct the inventorship of the application to list only the inventor of the elected invention; for example, inventor A if claims to invention X were elected. A divisional application with B as inventor and claims to Y may claim benefit of the originally filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120 as amended by Public Law 98-622.

Situation 3.

The application contains a Markush-type claim to X and Y and separate species claims to X and Y.

Examiner's Action:

(a) Examine the application to determine if the inventions X and Y are restrictable. If so, the claims to elected invention X (assume X is elected by applicants) and the X portion of the Markush claim to X and Y are examined.
   (i) if the claim to X is allowable, the entire Markush claim and the species claim to Y must also be examined.
   (ii) if the claim to X is not allowable, no further action on species claim Y or the Y portion of the Markush claim is required.

The inventorship of the application at the time of allowance must be corrected, if necessary, to correspond to the inventions covered by the claims allowed.

Example 2 - Multiple applications - plural inventions

Inventors A and B, both employees of Company E, with obligation to assign all their inventions to E, develop inventions X and Y with Y being developed by B after knowledge of A's development of X. A files application on X before B's development of Y and B later files application. Both applications establish they are owned by Company E.

Situation 1.

The claims to X and Y are not patentably distinct.

Examiner's Action:

(a) Examine the applications as to all grounds except §102(f) and (g) as they apply through §103;
(b) Make a provisional rejection of the later filed application on the grounds of double patenting of the obviousness type, if appropriate. If a terminal disclaimer is filed in accordance with §1.321(b), the provisional double patenting rejection of the obviousness type will be overcome;
(c) Examine the later filed application under §102(e)/103 and make a provisional rejection based on §102(e)/103, if appropriate. An affidavit under §1.131 can be filed to overcome the rejection based on §102(e)/103.

Situation 2.

After receiving the examiner's action in situation 1, A and B filed a continuation-in-part application with inventor C and claim A's invention, B's invention and an improvement they jointly developed with C. A and B abandon their prior applications.

Examiner's Action:
Examine the application in the normal manner; no double patenting and §102(e)/103 problems now exist.

Example 3 - Two copending applications with no indication in the record of common ownership
Inventor A files an application with claims to invention X. Another copending application is filed by inventor B claiming invention Y. There is no indication of common ownership.

Situation 1.
The claims in the two applications are directed to patentably distinct inventions.

Examiner's Action:
If the claims are otherwise allowable, the applications are both allowed.

Situation 2.
The claims in the two applications are not patentably distinct.

Examiner's Action:
The applications are prosecuted until one application is allowable. If the time difference between the two applications is too large to declare an interference, action on the later filed application is suspended until the earlier filed application issues as a patent. At that time the later filed application is rejected over the earlier filed application under §102(e)/103.

If the filing dates of the applications are sufficiently close to declare an interference, claims for an interference should be suggested. If the applications are commonly owned, the common owner must make the ownership known. When such common ownership is made known, a provisional double patenting rejection should be made in the later filed application. If the double patenting rejection is of the obviousness type, a terminal disclaimer under 37 CFR 1.321(b) may be filed. The later filed application should be examined under §102(e)/103 and a provisional rejection based on §102(e)/103 should be made in the later filed application, if appropriate. An affidavit under §1.131 can be filed to overcome a rejection based on §102(e)/103.

Example 4 - Claims in single application by different inventors.
An application for patent is filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in which the owner E sets forth the following information.

"The subject matter of claim 1 was invented by inventor A. The subject matter of claim 2 was invented by inventor B. Inventor B knew of the invention of inventor A at the time he made his invention. Both A and B made their inventions while working for owner E with a duty to assign". The inventions are different but not patentably distinct.

Examiner's Action:
If the claims are patentable over the prior art, the application should be allowed.

Public Law 98-622
Signed November 8, 1984

Ninety-eighth Congress of the United States of America

AT THE SECOND SESSION

Begun and held at the City of Washington on Monday, the twenty-third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and eighty-four

An Act

To amend title 35, United States Code, to increase the effectiveness of the patent laws, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1. This Act may be cited as the "Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984".

TITLE I—PATENT IMPROVEMENT PROVISIONS

USE OF PATENTED INVENTIONS OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

SEC. 101.(a) Section 271 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

"(f)(1) Whoever without authority supplies or causes to be supplied in or from the United States all or a substantial portion of the components of a patented invention, where such components are uncombined in whole or in part, in such manner as to actively induce the combination of such components outside of the United States in a manner that would infringe the patent if such combination occurred within the United States, shall be liable as an infringer.

"(2) Whoever without authority supplies or causes to be supplied in or from the United States any component of a patented invention that is especially made or especially adapted for use in the invention and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial noninfringing use, where such component is uncombined in whole or in part, knowing that such component is so made or adapted and intending that such component will be combined outside of the United States in a manner that would infringe the patent if such combination occurred within the United States, shall be liable as an infringer."

STATUTORY INVENTION REGISTRATION

SEC. 102.(a) Chapter 14 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new section:

"§157. Statutory invention registration

"(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the Commissioner is authorized to publish a statutory invention registration containing the specification and drawings of a regularly filed application for a patent without examination if the applicant-

"(1) meets the requirements of section 112 of this title;

"(2) has complied with the requirements for printing, as set forth in regulations of the Commissioner;

"(3) waives the right to receive a patent on the invention within such period as may be prescribed by the Commissioner; and

"(4) pays application, publication, and other processing fees established by the Commissioner.

If an interference is declared with respect to such an application, a statutory invention registration may not be published unless the issue of priority of invention is finally determined in favor of the applicant.

"(b) The waiver under subsection (a)(3) of this section by an applicant shall take effect upon publication of the statutory invention registration.

"(c) A statutory invention registration published pursuant to this section shall have all of the attributes specified for patents in this title except those specified in section 183 and sections 271 through 289 of this title. A statutory invention registration shall not have any of the attributes specified for patents in any other provision of law other than this title. A statutory invention registration published pursuant to this section shall give appropriate notice to the public, pursuant to regulations which the Commissioner shall issue, of the preceding provisions of this subsection. The invention with respect to which a statutory invention certificate is published is not a patented invention for purposes of section 292 of this title.

"(d) The Secretary of Commerce shall report to the Congress annually on the use of statutory invention registrations. Such report shall include an assessment of the degree to which agencies of the Federal Government are making use of the statutory invention registration system, the degree to which it aids the management of federally developed technology, and an assessment of the cost savings to the Federal Government of the use of such procedures.".

(b) The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 14 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"157. Statutory invention registration.".

(c) The amendments made by this section shall take effect six months after the date of the enactment of this Act.

PRIOR ART

SEC. 103. Section 103 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.".

JOINT INVENTORS

SEC. 104. (a) Section 116 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by amending the first paragraph to read as follows:

"When an invention is made by two or more persons jointly, they shall apply for patent jointly and each make the required oath, except as otherwise provided in this title. Inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though (1) they did not physically work together or at the same time, (2) each did not make the same type or amount of contribution, or (3) each did not make a contribution to the subject matter of every claim of the patent.".

(b) Section 120 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by striking out "by the same inventor" and inserting in lieu thereof "which is filed by an inventor or inventors named in the previously filed application".

ARBITRATION OF INTERFERENCES

SEC. 105. Section 135 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

"(d) Parties to a patent interference, within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner by regulation, may determine such contest or any aspect thereof by arbitration. Such arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of title 9 to the extent such title is not inconsistent with this section. The parties shall give notice of any arbitration award to the Commissioner, and such award shall, as between the parties to the arbitration, be dispositive of the issues to which it relates. The arbitration award shall be unenforceable until such notice is given. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude the Commissioner from determining patentability of the invention involved in the interference.".

EFFECTIVE DATE

SEC. 106. (a) Subject to subsections (b), (c), (d), and (e) of this section, the amendments made by this Act shall apply to all United States patents granted before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act, and to all applications for United States patents pending on or filed after the date of enactment.

(b) The amendments made by this Act shall not affect any final decision made by the court or the Patent and Tradem athe date of enactment of this Act with respect to a patent or application for patent, if no appeal from such decision is pending and the time for filing an appeal has expired.

(c) Section 271(f) of title 35, United States Code, added by section 101 of this Act shall apply only to the supplying, or causing to be supplied, of any component or components of a patented invention after the date of enactment of this Act.

(d) No United States patent granted before the date of enactment of this Act shall abridge or affect the right of any person or his successors in business who made, purchased, or used prior to such effective date anything protected by the patent, to continue the use of, or to sell to others to be used or sold, the specific thing so made, purchased, or used, if the patent claims were invalid or otherwise unenforceable on a ground obviated by section 103 or 104 of this Act and the person made, purchased, or used the specific thing in reasonable reliance on such invalidity or unenforceability. If a person reasonably relied on such invalidity or unenforceability, the court before which such matter is in question may provide for the continued manufacture, use, or sale of the thing made, purchased, or used as specified, or for the manufacture, use, or sale of which substantial preparation was made before the date of enactment of this Act, and it may also provide for the continued practice of any process practiced, or for the practice of which substantial preparation was made, prior to the date of enactment, to the extent and under such terms as the court deems equitable for the protection of investments made or business commenced before the date of enactment.

(e) The amendments made by this Act shall not affect the right of any party in any case pending in court on the date of enactment to have their rights determined on the basis of the substantive law in effect prior to the date of enactment.

TITLE II—PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE PROCEDURES

BOARD OF PATENT APPEALS AND INTERFERENCES

SEC. 201. (a) Section 7 of title 35, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"§7. Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences

"(a) The examiners-in-chief shall be persons of competent legal knowledge and scientific ability, who shall be appointed to the competitive service. The Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioners, and the examiners-in-chief shall constitute the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

"(b) The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall, on written appeal of an applicant, review adverse decisions of examiners upon applications for patents and shall determine priority and patentability of invention in interferences declared under section 135(a) of this title. Each appeal and interference shall be heard by at least three members of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, who shall be designated by the Commissioner. Only the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences has the authority to grant hearings.

"(c) Whenever the Commissioner considers it necessary, in order to keep current the work of the Board of Patent Apeals and Interferences, the Commissioner may designate any patent examiner of the primary examiner grade or higher, having the requisite ability, to serve as examiner-in-chief for periods not exceeding six months each. An examiner so designated shall be qualified to act as a member of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Not more than one of the members of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences hearing an appeal or determining an interference may be an examiner so designated. The Secretary of Commerce is authorized to fix the pay of each designated examiner-in-chief in the Patent and Trademark Office at not to exceed the maxium rate of basic pay payable for grade GS-16 of the General Schedule under section 5332 of title 5. The rate of basic pay of each individual designated examiner-in-chief shall be adjusted, at the close of the period for which that individual was designated to act as examiner-in-chief, to the rate of basic pay which that individual would have been receiving at the close of such period if such designation had not been made.".

(b) The item relating to section 7 in the table of sections at the beginning of chapter 1 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by striking out "Appeals" and inserting in lieu thereof "Patent Appeals and Interferences".

INTERFERENCES

SEC. 202. Section 135(a) of title 35, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(a) Whenever an application is made for a patent which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, would interfere with any pending application, or with any unexpired patent, an interference may be declared and the Commissioner shall give notice of such declaration to the applicants, or applicant and patentee, as the case may be. The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall determine questions of priority of the inventions and may determine questions of patentability. Any final decision, if adverse to the claim of an applicant, shall constitute the final refusal by the Patent and Trademark Office of the claims involved, and the Commissioner may issue a patent to the applicant who is adjudged the prior inventor. A final judgment adverse to a patentee from which no appeal or other review has been or can be taken or had shall constitute cancellation of the claims involved in the patent, and notice of such cancellation shall be endorsed on copies of the patent distributed after such cancellation by the Patent and Trademark Office.".

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries, receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections are open to public use and each of the Patent Depository Libraries, in addition, offers the publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System (e.g. The Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, etc.) and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. With one exception, as noted in the table following, the collections are organized in patent number sequence.

Facilities for making paper copies from either microfilm in reader-printers or from the bound volumes in paper-to-paper copies are generally provided for a fee.

Owing to variations in the scope of patent collections among the Patent Depository Libraries and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is advised to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours, so as to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
